Extra Project: Historical Photograph Recreation

Directions: A large and important aspect of history is both art and photography. These mediums tell us much about the artist, photographer, and the world they live in at the time. For this project, you will take a historic photo and recreate it yourself. Be as creative as you want. It can be serious or silly--just make sure it is always school appropriate. Make sure that the photo is connected to the content we have covered. You may also adapt the “old” photo into something modern. For example, you can recreate a child labor photo into miserable high school students showing the contrast between problems then and now. I will offer plenty of photos that you may use, but you may find one yourself. Please get permission first before using a historic photo that I have not offered to you. You may take a regular photo, use photoshop, use postermymwall.com, or any other resource. Feel free to ask questions and good luck! I am excited to see what you come up with!
