

Shamokin Area School District

Indians Backpack Program

It has been proven that a child who is ill-equipped to learn because of hunger and poverty is more likely to be poor as an adult. Together we can make sure no child has to be hungry.

ABOUT THE PROGRAM

The Central Pennsylvania Food Bank has its Back Pack Program in 17 counties within a 27 county service area in Pennsylvania. The program helps alleviate child hunger by addressing the lack of food resources on weekends for children who are at risk of hunger. The Shamokin Area School District is supporting our students by filling a back pack full of non-perishable food and sending it home with students in need when school meal programs are unavailable.
